

The article reports on Russian President Vladimir Putin's rejection of Western security guarantees for Ukraine, following a pledge by 26 countries to send troops to Ukraine if a ceasefire is reached. Putin cautions that this deployment would make the troops targets, reflecting rising tensions in the conflict. The piece underscores the escalating geopolitical tensions between Russia and Western nations concerning the situation in Ukraine.